

Contact: Gary Teplis
Phone: 800-669-6547
Email: gary.teplis@teplis.com

Press Release
(for immediate release)

Teplis Participates in Global Conference of Travel Industry Professionals

Best Practices for Travel Management and the Latest in Travel
Technology Showcased at GBTA Convention in Boston.

ATLANTA – July 26, 2012 – A senior executive from Teplis Travel recently took part in the annual Global Business Travel Association conference which brings together thousands of travel industry leaders, suppliers and managers to discuss challenges facing corporate travel managers. The four day event featured keynote addresses from former Presidents George W. Bush and Bill Clinton, as well as an appearance by Saturday Night Live news anchor Seth Myers. Clinton, who previously spoke at the convention in 2009, was asked back because of his "ability to distill global events, making even the most complex situation relatable," as described by Michael W. McCormick, the GBTA's executive director and chief operating officer.

The convention offered industry panels and more than 65 education sessions, covering such topics as "Transforming the Travel Fulfillment Process", "Going Mobile: Travel Risk Management on the Go", "Dissecting Hotel Sourcing – A Well Managed Process" and "Leveraging Travel Management Companies for Traveler Safety". "Keeping travelers safe on the road is a key topic for our clients," said Gary Teplis, Vice President, Global Sales, who attended the conference for Teplis Travel. "We recently acquired the SafeToGo® application which gives our clients unprecedented communication options when a crisis occurs in a distant location." SafeToGo®, developed by Magnatech, is a tool which enables agencies and travel managers to quickly locate travelers when there is civil unrest, dangerous weather or a catastrophe, like the recent tsunami in Japan. The application also connects travelers with their Teplis agent with one click from their mobile phone, a crucial factor in an emergency.

Among other products showcased at the convention was a new luxury executive Mercedes Van introduced by DPV Transportation; OneSimCard, which provides low-cost mobile phone service in over 200 countries and Limos.com, an online solution for management of corporate travel town car programs, with pre-screened car services in over 370 destinations across 62 countries worldwide.

A regular attendee at travel industry events, Gary Teplis took the opportunity to meet with clients, prospects and suppliers. "The last few years have seen strong growth in corporate travel as companies recover from the recent downturn. Teplis Travel is committed to staying on the cutting edge of both technology and industry practices. Networking at GBTA is a valuable part of our continuing effort to provide maximum program effectiveness for global travel managers."

#

Teplis Travel provides comprehensive travel management services for corporations, associations and other organizations with global business travel programs. The company has over 150 clients and regularly ranks among the top travel management companies in the United States. The company provides clients with access to the latest in travel technology, including Cliqbook®, Concur® Mobile and the i-Bank® reporting system which provides travel managers with 24/7 access to real-time travel report data. For more information go to www.teplis.com

The Global Business Travel Association (GBTA) is the world's premier business travel and meetings organization. Collectively, GBTA's 5,000-plus members manage over $340 billion of global business travel and meetings expenditures annually. GBTA provides its network of 17,000 business and government travel and meetings managers, as well as travel service providers, with networking events, news, education & professional development, research, and advocacy. To learn more go to www.gbta.org

For more information contact Gary Teplis at 800-669-6547, or gary.teplis@teplis.com